GLOBAL OUTREACH

FANOGCS RESPONDS TO TYPHOON KRISTINE'S DEVASTATION

AMY LAXAMANA

On November 7, 2024, FANOGCS responded to the devastation caused by Typhoon Kristine, which ravaged the Bicol region and other parts of the Philippines. The storm displaced countless families, destroyed homes, and wiped out communities. Schools were flooded and closed, crops were ruined, and many were left without access to basic healthcare as children began to fall ill.

Unlike the U.S., the Philippines lacks organizations like FEMA, leaving disaster response heavily reliant on the Red Cross, which often struggles with limited resources. Recognizing the urgent need, FANOGCS launched a heartfelt fundraising effort, appealing to friends and families for support.

The initiative, led by Amy Laxamana, Mydee Vergel de Dios, and Susan Araneta, raised $1,366.67. These funds were entrusted to St. Mary's Catholic Church in Chandler, which forwarded the donations to the office of the Archbishop of Caceres in Naga City. The funds will provide essential supplies, medicines, shelter, and much-needed hope to those affected.

FANOGCS expresses its deepest gratitude to everyone who contributed, helping make a meaningful difference in the lives of those devastated by Typhoon Kristine.

FANOGCS EXTENDS RELIEF TO TYPHOON MERCE VICTIMS

AMY LAXAMANA

In early November, FANOGCS successfully raised funds to support Bicol in the aftermath of Typhoon Kristine. Shortly after, Typhoon Merce struck Northern Philippines, devastating Sanchez Mira in Cagayan Valley. The storm left many homeless as roofs were torn off houses, fishermen lost their livelihoods when their bancas (boats) were destroyed, and power outages plunged the area into darkness. Families were left without dry beds, clothing, or essential resources.

Despite the looming threat of another typhoon, which fortunately weakened upon landfall, FANOGCS quickly stepped in to help. Guided by its mission of global outreach, The organization raised $1,300 to support relief efforts. Dr. Alma de Leon, a dentist who volunteered in FANOGCS's recent medical mission in Laoag City, spearheaded on-the-ground assistance to deliver aid directly to affected families.

FANOGCS is deeply grateful for the generosity of its friends, families, and supporters, whose contributions brought hope and relief to the deprived and underprivileged in Sanchez Mira. Together, we continue to share our blessings for the glory of God.

Maraming salamat po!
